ALBERT PUJOLS GAME USED BAT

PLAYER : ALBERT PUJOLS
MANUFACTURER : LOUISVILLE SLUGGER
LENGTH : 34.25"
WEIGHT : 32.5 oz.
MODEL : I13L

DESCRIPTION :

Blond finished polyurethane model I13L features Albert's number '5' in black marker on the knob. The end of the barrel is cupped. A very light coat of pine tar can be found near the mid section and on the lower handle, a solid use characteristic for Pujols. Due to the poly u coat, lace marks from game use caused numerous small surface cracks in the coat. Overall, this is a great example of an Albert Pujols game used bat. Notably, Pujols won the National League batting title in 2003 with a .359 batting average.

CONCLUSION :

On behalf of GameUsedBat.com, we have examined this Albert Pujols professional model Louisville Slugger bat and believe that this bat was genuinely game used by Albert Pujols with the St. Louis Cardinals circa 2003.

Sincerely,

Re: Albert Pujols Letter of Opinion

We have been asked to inspect this 2003 St. Louis Cardinals game-used bat of Albert Pujols, at our customer's request. This letter will serve as our opinion that the following baseball bat is an authentic professional model major league bat, used by the player whose name appears on the barrel. The model number, length, and weight specifications have been confirmed by the manufacturer's ordering records as being ordered by the player during the referenced labeling period. On the front barrel is the player name in block lettering. This Louisville Slugger Pro model I13L shows good overall use with hit and ball transfer marks visible predominantly on the rear barrel. The rear barrel also shows checking. Player number 5 is written on the knob end in black marker. There is a light coat of pine tar on the upper barrel.

Manufacturer: Hillerich & Bradsby Model Number: I13L Labeling Period: 2003

Length: 34.25 inches Weight: 32.6 ounces Wood: Maple Finish: Natural

The bat shows overall good game-use and in our opinion, this is a game-used St. Louis Cardinals professional bat used by Albert Pujols during the 2003 baseball season.
